

Theoretical and practical course plan form - Ilam University of Medical Sciences

Introduction to the course: Pathology of Geography of Iran, second semester 99-1400

School: Health Department: Public Health

* Course Name and Number: Code * Course and Degree: Bachelor of Public Health

* Day and time: Saturday 14-16 (2 units) * Venue: Virtual

* Name of the person in charge of the course (course instructor): Assadollah Jalali * Prerequisite courses: -

* Office Address: Faculty of Health - Second Floor West Corridor * Email Address: g_jalali_a@yahoo.com

General purpose of the course: Familiarity of students with native diseases in different regions of Iran

- Behavioral goals (behavioral goals have an audience, behavioral verb, degree and criteria and conditions of performance)

1- Awareness of general concepts of epidemiology, care system and geographical pathology and their ability to express

2- Awareness of the effects of geographical factors on human health and their ability to express

3 - Awareness of the division of the country in terms of ecology and ecological and geopolitical conditions and the ability to describe them

4- Awareness of common diseases in different areas of plains, mountains, foothills, deserts and coasts of Iran and their expression

- Student duties (student homework during the semester): study the introduced resources and the lesson of the previous session

- Main sources (observing the principles of source writing and giving an address for their preparation, including library, bookstore, internet,)

1- Geographical pathology of Iran, Zarathustra Hoshfar - latest publication

2- Geographical Pathology of Iran Author: Dr. Abdolreza Salahi Moghadam

- Teaching methods and teaching aids used: lectures, video projectors

- Methods and time of assessment and evaluation of the student and the burden related to each evaluation: (Type of exams in terms of how to design a question - loading - time of exams and assignments should be mentioned)

Method	Score	Date	Time
Multiple choice writing	20		10

Lesson rules and expectations from students

Curriculum presentation schedule: Geographical pathology of Iran second semester 99-1400

Session	Topic	Necessary preparation of students before the start of the class
1	Familiarity with definitions and terms - History of Geographical Pathology
2	Familiarity with the factors affecting climate diversity
3	Division of the country in terms of different climates
4	The effects of geographical factors on human health
5	Common diseases in the western coastal areas of the Caspian Sea due to its epidemiological conditions
6	Continued diseases of the eastern coastal region of the Caspian Sea
7	Common diseases in the coastal plain of Khuzestan and the southern Zagros plain due to its epidemiological conditions
8	Common diseases in temperate and mountainous areas of the Central Plateau due to its epidemiological conditions
9	Common diseases in mountainous areas of the slope of the Zagros Mountains due to its epidemiological conditions
10	Continued diseases of mountainous areas
11	Common diseases in the areas around the central desert and Lut plain due to its epidemiological conditions
12	Comparison of diseases of different geographical areas, emerging and emerging diseases
13	Ecological conditions of the country in terms of geopolitics of beaches and ports in the transit route of Europe and Asia and its relationship with public health
14	Global Climate Problems (Global Warming, El Niño)
	End of semester exam	